My experience with the Maxxum 5 has been great, but I only had it for 5 months because I decided to buy a Maxxum 700si (made in Japan) for the look, sturdy body, and faster shutter speed 1/8000. The Maxxum 5 was great but did not feel right to my hands. If possible I would buy a Maxxum 9, but the price is still pretty high.

I visited a camera shop to look at an used 24 mm Minolta AF. I have seen it advertised in a magazine. Unfortunately it was sold. I saw that they had a Minolta 9xi on the shelf. I've been thinking about switching camera to a model with better build quality so I asked if I could try it. I owned a Minolta Dynax 600si at the time (and still own it).
